

Observations and Insights Into COVID-19 from an Infectious Diseases Physician in Utah

with Eddie Stenehjem, MD MSc

Viewing the SARS-CoV-2 pandemic from the eyes of an infectious diseases physician that grew up in Rochester, graduating from Mayo High School in 1996. We will discuss timely COVID 19 topics that will include vaccination, current epidemiology, and flu season predictions. This will be a Zoom presentation so register early!

Dr. Eddie Stenehjem is Intermountain Healthcare’s Medical Director of Antimicrobial Stewardship, overseeing antimicrobial stewardship programs across 23 hospitals and over 185 outpatient clinics throughout Utah and Idaho. Dr. Stenehjem trained in Internal Medicine at the University of Colorado and completed his Infectious Diseases Fellowship at Emory University in Atlanta. Dr. Stenehjem founded Intermountain’s Infectious Diseases TeleHealth Program which provides real time Infectious Diseases consultation and antimicrobial stewardship support to 19 small community hospitals. His research is focused on improving the quality of infectious diseases care delivered to patients with an emphasis on developing, implementing, measuring, and studying methods of improving antimicrobial stewardship practices across the continuum of care. His current work has focused on improving antimicrobial use in Intermountain’s network of 39 urgent care clinics. Dr. Stenehjem has served on multiple national committees and has represented Intermountain Healthcare at the United Nations, the CDC, and the White House.
